

ScotsCare – The London Paper Feature

The London Paper

November 2007

St Andrew's Day

This Friday is Scotland's national day, but London's 400,000 jocks will be whooping it up all week.

1. St Andrew was one of the 12 apostles and brother of St Peter
2. The X shaped cross on which he was crucified forms the basis of the Scottish flag, the Saltire
3. St Andrew's Day festivities are all about traditional Scottish music, dance and drink
4. Festivities kick-off tomorrow night with an evening of Scottish stand-up for the charity ScotsCare at the Caledonian Club in Belgravia
5. If you fancy a spot of roastit bubbly jock and rumbledethumps on the day, the place to go is the Boisdale restaurant in Belgravia
6. If it's the more traditional haggis, neeps and tatties you're after, head for the ScotsCare dinner at the Caledonian Club on Friday
7. The Celidh Club holds its St Andrew's Day dance on Friday at the Camden Centre
8. The Caledoniart Christmas Art Exhibition opens at the Smithfield Gallery on 3rd December

thelondonpaper

thelondonpaper
thelondonpaper.com 13

TRADITION | The best of Scottish culture and history will be celebrated on St Andrew's Day

ST ANDREW'S DAY

This Friday is Scotland's national day, but London's 400,000 jocks will be whooping it up all week.

TAKE 10

- 1 St Andrew was one of the 12 apostles and brother of St Peter
- 2 The X shaped cross on which he was crucified forms the basis of the Scottish flag, the Saltire
- 3 St Andrew's Day festivities are all about traditional Scottish music, dance and drink
- 4 Festivities kick off tomorrow night with an evening of Scottish stand-up for the charity ScotsCare at the Caledonian Club in Belgravia
- 5 If you fancy a spot of roastit bubbly jock and rumbledethumps on the day, the place to go is the Boisdale restaurant in Belgravia
- 6 If it's the more traditional haggis, neeps and tatties you're after, head for the ScotsCare dinner at the Caledonian Club on Friday
- 7 The Celidh Club holds its St Andrew's Day dance on Friday at the Camden Centre
- 8 The Caledoniart Christmas Art Exhibition opens at the Smithfield Gallery on 3 December
- 9 The plaque next to the gallery commemorates the spot where William Wallace (of Braveheart fame) was put to death
- 10 For a pint with Celtic fans go to The Cock in Euston

MHAIRI CORR'S ART AT CALEDONIART

MONICA PORTER

9. The plaque next to the gallery commemorates the spot where William Wallace (of Braveheart fame) was put to death.
10. For a pint with Celtic fans go to The Cock in Euston.